CGEST Monthly Noyt Newsletter December 2019

Welcome

Kim's Corner

Women's Center of Hawai'i Presents Women of Color in STEM Entrepreneurship Conference

Register Now

More information on the Women's Center of Hawai'i presents Women of Color in STEM Entrepreneurship Conference can be found online.

Upcoming Opportunities

New Chair of the AISES Advisory Board

We are excited to announce Dr. Nkrumah as the new Chair for the AISES Advisory Board. Dr. Nkrumah is a tenured professor at Arizona State University and has a wealth of experience in STEM. He will bring a fresh perspective and passion to the advisory board.

Cultural Responsive Schools

CGEST enacts culturally responsive schooling that centers learning from the student's community and identity. Through its programs, CGEST provides resources in its curriculum to understand and critique STEM education. State University applies intersectionality as a framework that examines multiple positions seeking candidates for 2 assistant professor positions.

Cultural Responsive Schools

CGEST enacts culturally responsive schooling that centers learning from the student's community and identity. Through its programs, CGEST provides resources in its curriculum to understand and critique STEM education. State University applies intersectionality as a framework that examines multiple positions seeking candidates for 2 assistant professor positions.

CompuPower

CGEST will continue to work with AISES and the AISL and 2020 Women of Color in STEM Entrepreneurship Conference. The American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES) was held in Madison, Wisconsin. This year's theme was "Indigenizing the Future of STEM." The conference gathered over 3,000 high school and college students, college and university faculty, and professionals in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics through various industries. Fair were the highlight of the three-day event. The conference will be in Hawai'i! NEXT STEPS are to register before November 30th to take advantage of Early Bird Registration.

Upcoming Opportunities

New Chair of the AISES Advisory Board

We are excited to announce Dr. Nkrumah as the new Chair for the AISES Advisory Board. Dr. Nkrumah is a tenured professor at Arizona State University and has a wealth of experience in STEM. He will bring a fresh perspective and passion to the advisory board.

Cultural Responsive Schools

CGEST enacts culturally responsive schooling that centers learning from the student's community and identity. Through its programs, CGEST provides resources in its curriculum to understand and critique STEM education. State University applies intersectionality as a framework that examines multiple positions seeking candidates for 2 assistant professor positions.

CompuPower

CGEST will continue to work with AISES and the AISL and 2020 Women of Color in STEM Entrepreneurship Conference. The American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES) was held in Madison, Wisconsin. This year's theme was "Indigenizing the Future of STEM." The conference gathered over 3,000 high school and college students, college and university faculty, and professionals in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics through various industries. Fair were the highlight of the three-day event. The conference will be in Hawai'i! NEXT STEPS are to register before November 30th to take advantage of Early Bird Registration.

Upcoming Opportunities

New Chair of the AISES Advisory Board

We are excited to announce Dr. Nkrumah as the new Chair for the AISES Advisory Board. Dr. Nkrumah is a tenured professor at Arizona State University and has a wealth of experience in STEM. He will bring a fresh perspective and passion to the advisory board.

Cultural Responsive Schools

CGEST enacts culturally responsive schooling that centers learning from the student's community and identity. Through its programs, CGEST provides resources in its curriculum to understand and critique STEM education. State University applies intersectionality as a framework that examines multiple positions seeking candidates for 2 assistant professor positions.

CompuPower

CGEST will continue to work with AISES and the AISL and 2020 Women of Color in STEM Entrepreneurship Conference. The American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES) was held in Madison, Wisconsin. This year's theme was "Indigenizing the Future of STEM." The conference gathered over 3,000 high school and college students, college and university faculty, and professionals in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics through various industries. Fair were the highlight of the three-day event. The conference will be in Hawai'i! NEXT STEPS are to register before November 30th to take advantage of Early Bird Registration.

Upcoming Opportunities

New Chair of the AISES Advisory Board

We are excited to announce Dr. Nkrumah as the new Chair for the AISES Advisory Board. Dr. Nkrumah is a tenured professor at Arizona State University and has a wealth of experience in STEM. He will bring a fresh perspective and passion to the advisory board.

Cultural Responsive Schools

CGEST enacts culturally responsive schooling that centers learning from the student's community and identity. Through its programs, CGEST provides resources in its curriculum to understand and critique STEM education. State University applies intersectionality as a framework that examines multiple positions seeking candidates for 2 assistant professor positions.

CompuPower

CGEST will continue to work with AISES and the AISL and 2020 Women of Color in STEM Entrepreneurship Conference. The American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES) was held in Madison, Wisconsin. This year's theme was "Indigenizing the Future of STEM." The conference gathered over 3,000 high school and college students, college and university faculty, and professionals in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics through various industries. Fair were the highlight of the three-day event. The conference will be in Hawai'i! NEXT STEPS are to register before November 30th to take advantage of Early Bird Registration.

Upcoming Opportunities

New Chair of the AISES Advisory Board

We are excited to announce Dr. Nkrumah as the new Chair for the AISES Advisory Board. Dr. Nkrumah is a tenured professor at Arizona State University and has a wealth of experience in STEM. He will bring a fresh perspective and passion to the advisory board.

Cultural Responsive Schools

CGEST enacts culturally responsive schooling that centers learning from the student's community and identity. Through its programs, CGEST provides resources in its curriculum to understand and critique STEM education. State University applies intersectionality as a framework that examines multiple positions seeking candidates for 2 assistant professor positions.

CompuPower

CGEST will continue to work with AISES and the AISL and 2020 Women of Color in STEM Entrepreneurship Conference. The American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES) was held in Madison, Wisconsin. This year's theme was "Indigenizing the Future of STEM." The conference gathered over 3,000 high school and college students, college and university faculty, and professionals in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics through various industries. Fair were the highlight of the three-day event. The conference will be in Hawai'i! NEXT STEPS are to register before November 30th to take advantage of Early Bird Registration.